CHIBALU CHATACHI – KUBALUMUNA [20]

1 BALUMUNAKU IYI NSAÑU YIDI MUCHIZUNGU NAKUYITWALA MU LUNDA

In the olden days all the animals of the world lived together. They had no one to rule over them and judge them. As a result, many wicked crimes were committed as the wrongdoers knew that they would not be punished for their bad deeds.

At last they all met together to look at this state of affairs and they decided to choose a king. The great problem was how to choose him.

Lion was the first animal suggested but most opposed him because they said he was too fierce. Wolf was the next to be proposed but the sheep and the goats refused to have him because he was their enemy.

As it was difficult to please everyone using this method, the animals decided to choose their king in a different way. They would have a race. Four kilometres from their village they placed a stool under an ancient tree. The animal which first reaches the stool and sat on it would be king.

The big day arrived. All the animals, great and small, prepared for the race. The signal was given and they started off. The Hare rapidly out-distanced the others. He got to the stool quite five hundred metres from the next animal. You may guess how annoyed he was when just as he was going to sit down a voice came from behind him saying, "Watch out Mr Hare! Do not sit on me! I was here first!"

It was chameleon. Being able to change his colour like his surroundings, he had seized Mr Hare's tail just as the race started. Having made his colour the same as the hare's, he had not been noticed by the other animals. He had held on very tightly and when the hare turned around to sit down, chameleon dropped off and landed on the stool.

The animals had no choice but to make him their King.
