CHIHANDA A

1 Alumuna chihandechi mu Luvale [20]

Language of Instruction

Zambia has had for almost thirty years of experience of using English as a medium of instruction from Grade One onwards. Children, who have very little contact with English outside the school, have been required to learn how to read and write through and in this language which is quite alien to them. They have also been required to learn content subjects through this medium.

The experience has not been altogether satisfactory. The fact that initial reading skills are taught in and through a language that is unfamiliar to the majority of children is believed to be a major contributory factor to the backwardness in reading shown by many Zambian children. It is also a major factor in fostering rote learning, since from the outset the child has difficulties associating the printed forms of words with their real underlying meaning.
