Q.1A* Study this extract on events leading to the annexation of Cameroon, German colonization and the end of German rule and then answer questions (a) to (e) which follow (The maximum mark for each sub question is indicated in brackets)

On the 7th of August 1879, a Douala chief led his colleagues to write a letter to a British Queen 1 requesting a British annexation of Cameroon. In March 1881 another Cameroon Coastal chief wrote a second letter through Edward Hyde Hewett still asking for a British annexation.
Unfortunately, both letters were not replied by the British. In November 1881 two Douala chiefs 5 wrote to the British Head of government requesting a British annexation. Despite the fact that the kings advanced a good number of reasons why they wanted their territory to be annexed by the British, no reply was given. In 1882 the British Head of Government promised to look into the issue of annexation later. As the British were hesitating, the Germans decided to take action For this reason, in April 1884 the German Chancellor and the German Kaiser decided to send 10 a team to the coast of West Africa with the objective to make arrangements for the German annexation of Cameroon. At the same time the British queen changed her mind in favour of the annexation of Cameroon and Consul Hewett was sent to carry out the assignment. When he reached Fernando Po he met a British Naval official and gave him some treaty forms to cross over to Cameroon and start negotiations with the Cameroon coastal chiefs as he moved over to Nigeria for a similar exercise. Hewett was to leave Nigeria before coming to Cameroon, but he 15 delayed and was overtaken by a German warship carrying the team sent by the German Government to annex Cameroon.

The Germans established a protectorate in Cameroon...after having deceived and outmaneuvered the British diplomatically. Between 1884 and 1914, they expanded and consolidated their hold on the territory. By 1914, the Germans had successfully taken the step towards uniting the coastal and inland ethnic groups into a single cohesive modern nation. 20

When the First World War broke out... Allied forces invaded German Cameroon. They captured the town of Douala from the Germans. They eventually captured Yaoundé and besieged the German forces in the Mora Fort. The departure of Zimmermann and Ebermaier signaled the end of German rule in Cameroon. Following the defeat of Germany, Lancelot Oliphant and Georges Picot partitioned former German Cameroon 25

Q.1B* Study this extract on the reaction of Southern Cameroons representatives to a crisis in a Nigerian Legislative Assembly in the early 1950s and answer question (a) –(d) which follow. (The maximum mark for each sub question is indicated in brackets)

... The supporters of the policy of benevolent neutrality formed a bloc and boycotted the sessions of the Eastern House of Assembly because X who was the only Southern Cameroonian representative in the Eastern Nigerian Executive Council was not reinstated. When the representatives of the Benevolent Neutrality Bloc returned to British Southern Cameroons they undertook a tour of the region explaining the issues at stake. They called on their supporters to send representatives to a Conference which was to hold from the 22nd-24th of May. At the Conference, Dibongue and Endeley agreed to merge their political associations to form a political party in Southern Cameroons. The party formed in June 1953, was the first indigenous political party in British Cameroons. ... was President and Dibongue was the Patron of the party. Mbile, although the Secretary General of one of the pressure groups that merged to form the party, was not a member of the new party. He nonetheless formed a rival political party with P.M Kale in 1953. Also, at the Conference, it was agreed that a petition should be sent to the British Secretary of State for Colonies. In the petition, they demanded that the British authorities should create a separate and autonomous region or legislature for British Cameroons. Endeley took the letter on May 28, 1953 to London. It was against this background that the Lancaster House Conference was convened in August 1953.
